Eyes of the Home Skies

Prepare, Prevent and Respond

Civil Air Patrol's efforts following the attacks of 9/11/01 and during the Winter Olympics at Salt Lake City, Utah in 2002 have already become as much a part of our history as the Sub Chasers of World War II.

Of late, prior to the launch of the Space Shuttle Columbia's last mission, CAP was called upon to patrol the area surrounding Cape Canaveral from the air. Following the tragic loss of the Columbia on its return from space, CAP was called upon to assist in the search for debris across a five state area.

As our nation and its allies battle to rid the world of tyrants and terrorists, we have been warned by our Commander-In-Chief that more attacks in this country are inevitable.

Speaking to the conference this year will be the following people:

- Chaplain Robert Hicks, National Executive Administrator of the CAP Chaplain Service on the topic of Religious Terrorism.

- Colonel Mike McDaniel, MIARNG, Michigan Assistant Director of Homeland Security, reporting directly to Governor Granholm, will address the conference on Homeland Security matters.
- Brigadier General Ken Heaton, MIANG, Deputy Adjutant General for the Air National Guard will address the conference on military matters.
- A special guest will be former Michigan Senator Dr. Robert Schwartz, M.D., former President Pro Tem of the Michigan Senate and a staunch CAP supporter in the legislature.

As you attend this year's conference, learn all you can to prepare for, prevent or respond to acts of terrorism and other disasters. Our motto "Semper Vigilant—Always Vigilant."
